Act I

Scene I: In the Nursery

As the curtain opens, we find Mrs. Darling reminiscing about reading the story of Peter Pan when she was a girl. She shares the story with her daughter, Wendy, encouraging her to read the book her brothers, John and Michael. The children act out a pirate story with Nana, the family dog. Mr. and Mrs. Darling enter the nursery to say goodnight to their children, and dispense the nightly dose of cod liver oil.

Scene II: Storytime

Before the parents depart for their party that evening, little Michael asks Mother to read "just one more story!" As Mother reads, we see Nursery Toys, Harlequins and other imaginary characters come to life. Before she leaves, Mrs. Darling is hesitant to open the nursery window because "she dreamt that the Neverland had come too near and that a strange boy had broken through from it. He did not alarm her, for she thought she had seen him before in the faces of many women who have no children." Nevertheless, she lights the nightlights to keep the Scary Shadows at bay, and opens the window.

Peter rides the Wind and appears in the nursery window. Tinkerbell enters first, and holds something mysterious in her hand...it's Peter's shadow, which she mischievously hides from him. Peter joins her, and searches high and low for his Shadow. Just when it is found, Wendy wakes. Being the motherly type, she helps Peter reclaim the Shadow by sewing onto Peter's feet. Then, she sweetly asks if he would like a kiss. Confused about what a kiss is, Peter holds out his hand. A bit embarrassed, Wendy gives him a thimble, and Peter, in turn, presents her with an acorn, which she ties around her neck like a necklace.

Scene II: Lost Boys

In her jealousy over Peter's new admiration for Wendy, Tinkerbell orders the Lost Boys to "shoot the Wendybird!" Luckily, the arrow strikes the acorn that Wendy wears around her neck, and the shot is not fatal. Peter commands the Lost Boys to make amends by building Wendy a Magic Hut.

After the misunderstanding with the arrow, the Lost Boys are thrilled to have a mother who will read them stories and look after them. Wendy teaches the boys to dance, but the celebration is interrupted by a cannon blast! Pirates are headed their way!

Tick tock goes the Croc! We meet the spunky Crocodile who stalks Captain Hook, hoping to score another juicy morsel, after devouring the hand which is now the infamous hook.

Smoke Signals are on the horizon, and our adventure brings us to Tiger Lily and her tribe of Indian Princesses.

Back at Peter Pan's hideout, Wendy quietly reads stories to the Lost Boys, while Hook's mischievous band of pirates prepare to attack. Wendy, John and Michael are captured by the pirates, and taken aboard the USS Caliente as prisoners. Hook is certain that Peter Pan will soon come to their rescue.

Scene IV: Fairies and the Battle

Evil Captain Hook is still plotting! Hook convinces Tink to play a trick on Peter Pan! Tink attempts to get Peter to drink medicine, which is actually poison! At the last moment, Tinkerbell changes her mind, for "Tink was not all bad; or rather, she was all bad just now, but on the other hand, sometimes she was all good. Fairies have to be one thing or the other, because being so small they unfortunately have room for one feeling only at a time. They are, however, allowed to change, only it must be a complete change."

She swoops in and drinks the poison herself! Peter is distraught, but remembers that clapping and belief brings fairies back to life. Clap your hands if you believe in fairies!! Tinkerbell slowly awakes, and is given energy and magic by the First Laugh Baby Fairies.

Upon Tink's revival, a great battle ensues between the Lost Boys and the Pirates, while Peter Pan duels Captain Hook to save Wendy and her brothers. "Proud and insolent youth," said Hook, "prepare to meet thy doom." "Dark and sinister man," Peter answered, "have at thee."

The Pirates lose the battle, and Captain Hook is forced to walk the plank. Tick tock, tick tock Guess who awaits in the waters below? Hook and the Croc tango for the last time...

Scene V: Farewell Neverland

Realizing that Michael and John are beginning to forget their parents and their home in London, Wendy decides it's time to leave Neverland and return to the comfort of their mother. Sadly, the Lost Boys bid farewell, as Tink once again sprinkles her Pixie Dust to return the trio home to No. 14.
